New Left Review (Glucksman)

By Perry Anderson

Part I – The Originals

I. Glucksman on the Fiscal Budget of Spain and European Countries

From the Graeco-Roman standpoint with merchants, Agoras, and councils with Thucydides in witnessing history and even foretelling crises in agriculture towards a process of heavy legality followed in stupidity according to Sirohi, which then becomes for Cornel West a Christian liberating argument on black intellectual habits compared to sophism against philosophy which then becomes the modern capitalist system in metropolitan capital and peripheries or satellites which then is old classification of developing in fact countries like India mainly which then is about the process of history becoming a Great Divergence as Polyani argues which measures unequal exchange in history – finally Glucksman argues that in fact packages of the monetarism called fiscal budgets then becomes a number of policies which are agrarian, welfarist, even financial developments and dynamics of finally cities, universities, and towns, villages, states like Granada, Sevilla and all ofthat which becomes the unfolding of bank-houses and central monetarism which spends 50 billion and earns 1 trillion – the most successful Spain and EU – under Nunes and Hegelesia as generally European countries including Greece, French high dynamics and Italian success as well – producing a empty formalism as Varoufakis argues which from Greek history standpoint is called merchantile capital success with its agrarian order – which today is a major success in fact.

Glucksman is in fact unfolding the process in more complex ways – he thinks the race-to-poverty is resisted by politics by PCE and is then the main point as a Marxist as government continues and business continues. This fact that it is no longer austerity and attacks on the people is enough to tell that it has done well.

II. Indian Development

In fact a developing country – Sirohi covers as financial investments, World Bank led development followed by many cities and states with their loans and their activism, with in fact World Bank led cities with in Delhi a bureaucratic ensemble working on labouring activities which is then mediated by a central Bank RBI and in fact a new state architectural parallax which becomes the old argument of pure or unique mixed economics which has though a perfect developing country logic of being based on qualitative indexes of the major point in Glucksman – poverty rights in protest, attacks reduced – and no race-to-the bottom in fact won by the people and many public policies of NREGA style which then becomes the meaning again of Marxism – that in fact the people have won – Communism has won and this is generally the betterment of the poor and elite at once.

III. Glucksman on American Black Rights – One Move – Unionising the Detroit General Motors Working Class Strike

In fact the black people win by one move from Biden apart from Democrat policies making it leftist dynamics in this line of activism which becomes large black victories with Sirohi adding the dimension of a new middle class intellectual creativity which Cornel West argues is winning in major ways – the thesis of failed embourgeosification with black protests as stronger than in fact its long history with that slave ship from Graeco-Roman times – like Martin Luther King who is a revolt in that period which fails – like Black Panthers which fails – to a success which is finally the ‘point’ of Glucksman – that creative protest matched by unionisation rights, with legal rights and intellectual movements in fact – has won. Glucksman makes the point that this is American success in fact – not Trump and difficult times, but in fact a measure of unionising the poor and shifting it to their general betterment – a major success called Biden.